McKINNON DISCUSSES MATTERS POLITICAL

Doesn't Want Mrs. Bilbo to Be Governor—Takes Whack at Churchmen Fighting Al Smith and Also Whams Willie Upshaw and Others.

Editor Grenada Sentinel.—I see in the papers where Mississippi, bless her poor afflicted soul, is threatened with another and dire calamity. What with a bankrupt treasury, a "plunging" Governor and a dissenting Legislature all tied up in a struggle to which I can't see the ending, this last threatened blow is just simply too much for her to bear. Mrs. Bilbo is going to be a candidate for Governor in the event this perverse Legislature does not pass her husband's pet measure, a State Book Printing Plant. I am opposed absolutely to the printing plant but to avert this last calamity I am almost willing to have the book plant. Anything to get clear of the Bilbos will be pleasant and fortunate no matter what the cost.

The Methodist bishops and Baptist parsons are still on the war path. The more and deeper they wade into the nigger party, the ranker the scent, the more they seem to like it. In order to have their way and defeat that Catholic, Al Smith, they would again welcome nigger and carpetbagger rule in Mississippi with all its attendant horrors and bloodshed. They are even prepared to embrace Perry Howard, the Redmonds and the Bob Churches. Talk about Catholic priests ruling their flocks with a rod of iron, tell me just what you think of the bishops and parsons? If they could have their way every member of their flocks who failed to follow them would be excommunicated and sent to hades and cast into that lake said to be composed of fire and brimstone. They have shaken the faith of not only their own members but of the rank outsiders who have frequently doubted their inspiration and divinity, their holiness and their godly walk and conversation. The bishops are fast losing their strangle hold upon the good will and purses of their flocks. Selah. Same about the damned Baptists who are just as guilty as our Methodist brethren of the clergy. Cut off their supplies and then see what happens. Hunger will tame a lion.

Some one told me the editor of the Baptist Record who has converted his paper, the denomination's paper into a Hoover organ says "no one has stopped his paper except a few booze heads". I would hate like the devil to say that about my subscribers and my brethren, sinner as I am, and Baptist too. I am almost ashamed to say. Lord, Lord, when the parsons get into politics look out for snakes. His brethren "booze heads", huh. There is no charge as far as I have heard that Brother Carnes, one of the "anointed" who it is charged stole a cool million from the Baptist treasury was even seen to even take a drink. But it seems he was financing some "lady friends" on Baptist stolen money to try to break into the moving picture game. A "booze head" is a mighty disreputable kind of fellow in many cases but he shines like an incandescent when compared with our Baptist brother, the saintly Mister Carnes.

Watch those fellows outside the clergy, those "holier than thou" fellows who are too saintly to godlike to vote for a Catholic. Watch him after the returns come in, if Hoover should be elected, cut off all disguise and plunge head over heels into the Republican party and then hasten to ask for some office which he had already selected. Watch him also try to return to the fold after some fellow has beaten him to it. Republican for revenue only—SEE?

No man deserves credit, I mean no white man, who does his duty. A voter deserves no credit for voting his party ticket if the candidate is a platform suit him. But still neither does suit him and he still walks up to the lick log and takes salt then he is deserving of credit. A man who thinks all the wisdom and patriotism of all the ages is seated under his hat is a damned egotistical fool, so much so that any prayers offered up for his regeneration are simply lost. Watch those fellows who quit their party to reform it, as they say. Watch John R. Tally who once ran against Pat Harrison for Congress, was among the "also rans" when Bilbo was first elected Governor. He, the saintly John R. can't bear Gov. Smith. Watch him if Hoover is elected ask for some office at Republican hands. If he thought Smith could be elected he would be supporting him rather than be going over the State making very bad Republican speeches. Watch Upshaw of Georgia who was in Mississippi last week trying to teach her Democrats how best to betray their party. I remember him as "Ernest Willie" who once graced the columns of The Atlanta Constitution when Henry W. Grady and Col. E. P. Howell were the owners and editors. "Ernest Willie" finally broke into Congress, the people of his district in a weak moment having lost their senses in sympathy with his physical affliction, and

Senator Carter Glass Calls Bishop Cannon

Deplores Religionist in Politics—Says Secular Press Bureau of Methodist Church, Maintained by Funds Contributed by Members, Being Used for Illicit Political Purposes.

Roanoke, Va., Oct. 5.—Senator Carter Glass launched a direct and severe attack on the partisan activities of Bishop James Cannon, Jr., and the Methodists who follow him, in a speech remarkable for its plain language, which he delivered here. Senator Glass said: "More than a hundred years ago Edmund Burke declared that 'the religionist in politics and the politician in religion are equally a curse to human society.' Multiplied evidences of this fact abound before our very eyes today. Virginia newspapers were recently the recipients of an article sent out from Nashville by the Secular Press Bureau of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, broadcasting an authorized statement by Bishop James Cannon, Jr., charging certain distinguished Democratic Senators and me with 'betrayal of the Prohibition cause for the sake of purely partisan victory.'"

"The offensive nature of this utterly false imputation was not abated by the accompanying, very highly respected, Senators Robinson, Swanson, George and Glass and former Secretary Daniels."

"The real significance of the incident is in the fact that it furnishes incontestable evidence of dragging the Methodist Church into partisan politics by using its agencies for illicit political purposes."

"Upon the testimony of a responsible minister of the church I learn that this Secular Press Bureau is maintained by funds of the church contributed by the membership generally. It is here used to perpetrate a systematic defamation of designated members of the Methodist church, together with hundreds of thousands of other loyal laymen who, at the ensuing election, will refuse to follow Bishop Cannon's trek into the camp of a political party the shocking immoralities of which but recently startled the Nation."

"The literary agencies of the Methodist church, sustained by the contributions of its members, should no more be used to circulate the vituperative aspersions of a bishop in politics than to convey kindred false reproaches by laymen against a bishop of the church."

"In either event the pursuit would be disgraceful, as it distinctly is in this case. It is giving currency to an accusation devoid of every semblance of the truth. It is prostitution of a religious instrumentality. It is a misappropriation of trust funds. It is no whit less than malfeasance of authority."

"Practically and in principle I was a prohibitionist long before these vehement churchmen were ever heard of in the cause, and when it was not a popular fight to pursue. Never in my life have I touched a drop of intoxicating drink nor have I ever in my life failed when occasion presented to vote for its extinction."

"With this unimpeachable record I challenge the integrity of any man who asperses my fidelity to conviction, and if he be a bishop of my church or any other, so much the worse for him. He will have discarded the sacerdotal nature of his office and descended to the level of those cheap politicians who have depraved this presidential campaign by persistently bearing false witness against their neighbors."

COTTON REPORT

There were 2,986 bales of cotton, counting round as half bales, ginned in Grenada County, from the crop of 1928 prior to October 1, 1928, as compared with 2,870 bales ginned to October 1, 1927.

forgetting his mental and moral deficiencies. Two years ago a man by the name of Steele took his job away from him, "Ernest Willie" protesting it was done by money collected and spent by the whiskey interests to silence his eloquent voice in "congressional halls". This past summer the same man, Steele distanced him so very far that "Ernest Willie" forgot to raise the whiskey howl of two years ago and in silence as far as that Georgia district was concerned, he left the state and turned up in Mississippi to teach treason to the Democratic voters over here. Same about Owen of Oklahoma. As soon as the Democrats had retired him from that fat office he tries to betray them by going over to the Republicans. It is either the "has beens" or the "tried to be" who are leading this treasonable plot against the party and the state. I mean among the laymen.

Pay no more heed to party traitors than you would to national traitors in time of war. It was said of Benedict Arnold who sold his country to the British during the war of the Revolution that "The British accepted and paid for the treason but they despised the traitor."

Rev. J. W. Lee Answers Senator Harrison

Senator Pat Harrison,
Care of Dem. National Committee, New York.
My Dear Senator:—

In reply to your very courteous letter of Sept. 24th please allow me to say that before you wrote me I had discovered my mistake viz. that it was Senator Kirby of Arkansas and not Senator Robinson who was in the "Willful Twelve".

Five days before I received your letter my retraction and apology was published in The Grenada Sentinel, there giving my retraction and apology the same publicity that I had given my criticism.

If there is anything more that a Christian gentleman can do I am ready to do it. It was an honest mistake and therefore a sin of the head and not of the heart.

I got the two senators of Arkansas confused. I judged that you have seen my retraction and apology, and I trust it is satisfactory to both Senator Robinson and yourself.

Please allow me to thank you for the courteous manner in which you wrote me. You gave me a chance to correct my mistake before expressing harsh criticisms. You have treated me as one gentleman should treat another.

It is in such contrast with the way others are treating us that it is real refreshing. It is like a cup of cold water when one is thirsty.

Yours most respectfully,
J. W. LEE.

Batesville, Miss., Oct. 3, 1928.

REVIVAL MEETING CLOSED

Dr. Glenn Made Many Friends.
Able Sermons.

The revival meeting which had been under way for two weeks closed at the Methodist church last Sunday night. The results of the meeting were very pleasing to the consecrated pastor, Rev. J. H. Holder, and others who were fortunate enough to be able to present all the time and to keep over their thoughts and actions each day. His sermon Sunday morning, last, was very fine. He climbed the mountain top and brought man face to face with his duty to God. He showed the effects and the penalties of sin and how God will take the blackest heart and cleanse it if the keeper of that heart strives to set himself right with the demands of the Master. A number were added to the church by letter and on profession of faith.

DR. WHITAKER HONORED

The North Mississippi Presbytery, which met in its semi-annual session at Cleveland this week elected Dr. W. H. Whitaker, of Grenada, moderator. This is an unusual honor conferred upon anyone other than a minister but the Presbytery were unanimous in their desire to name Dr. Whitaker as their chief officer.

Dr. Whitaker is a ruling elder of the Presbyterian church, having served in this capacity for forty-four years. He has taught Sunday school classes for nearly fifty years and has been a regular attendant for sixty years.

The spring meeting of the presbytery, over which Dr. Whitaker will preside, is to be held next April in Grenada.

REFUSE TO BE WED SAVE BY DEMOCRAT BAPTIST PARSON

Marriage vows were solemnized Thursday morning at 11:20 o'clock in the office of Circuit Clerk Virgil R. James at the courthouse when C. W. Smith, of Biloxi, and Miss Jewel Casey, of Senatobia, the Rev. L. J. Lott, Baptist minister of the Little Texas community in Carroll County, officiating. The groom is a popular young business man and his bride is a most attractive young woman. They were in Grenada for the fair and decided to yield to the entreaties of Cupid that they become man and wife, therefore the marriage resulted.

The couple refused to be married except by a dyed-in-the-wool Democratic Baptist minister and one who is remaining steadfast and loyal to the party nominees. The Rev. Mr. Lott answers this description perfectly and he was chosen to perform the ceremony.

The couple will reside in Biloxi.

GRENADA COUNTY BAPTISTS

If you are interested in our Master's work and want to have a part in making our churches better and training our members, be at the First Baptist Church, Sunday afternoon, October 21st at 2:30 without fail. We want a good representative from each church in this county. Come praying God's blessing upon the work to be done that afternoon. Mr. Wilds will be with us.

Director B. Y. P. U.

DENLEY HOPES BILL FOR REVENUE TO PASS

Legislator Discuss Matters that Occupy Attention of Extraordinary Legislative Session—Predicts Printing Plant Doomed to Defeat.

(By G. E. Denley)

Jackson, Miss., Oct. 9.—This is the second week of the extraordinary session and, so far as one just at this time can see, the end is several days if not weeks away. As is known to most of The Sentinel readers the much discussed book plant passed the Senate last week by a safe majority, the vote being 35 for to 13 against, a gain of four votes against since last spring. This of course was a foregone conclusion that it would pass the senate. Reports have it that it will have a more difficult task in getting by the House than before. They may do as they did last winter, refuse to vote it out of the committee room. Anyhow I have not heard any more from it since it was up in the Senate. Predictions are freely made that the senate will not pass any revenue measure until the house passes the printing plant bill. I hardly think however there is any truth in this rumor. The House has passed a revenue measure that is not materially different from the one voted on last spring and vetoed by the governor in order that he might have an excuse to call an extra session to have another tryout on his book bill.

I think a mistake was made in calling an extra session, but a bigger one when the bars were let down and the gates thrown open to admit of the introduction of measures of all kinds and description. But this is true and senate bill No. 41 has been presented and perhaps more in the house. This would mean another long drawn out session almost immediately following one of the longest sessions in the state's history, when the large amount of appropriations was legislated on and about and more appropriations made than at any previous session, yet after a lapse of only about four months, it would appear that as many bills would in a few weeks be introduced and as much money asked for in appropriations. I am wondering where the limit is or what the people of the state would think if this session should continue on for two or three months and add to the large amount of appropriations already made. I have believed all along that an extraordinary session should be the last resort and not called unless some unforeseen disaster or calamity should occur, and since the convening of this session am stronger convinced of this fact. Knowing as I do that the only reason of this session is the governor's determination to pass a bill to establish a book plant and that at least three thousand dollars is being spent to awaken the farmers of Mississippi to its great possibilities that could not have been done last session, I am made to wonder whether we are drifting?

I am hopeful that a majority of both houses will make up their minds to pass the revenue measure, a few local and private bills, and probably the road bill, and go home at least at the end of three weeks, yet the prediction is freely made that we will be here two months or probably three. This may be but I think not. I do not believe the folks back home would stand for this if attempted.

I have made up my mind that I am going to vote for a revenue measure and the sixty million dollar road proposition, and against everything else that may come up. The road bill as introduced last week is meeting with more favor than last winter and looks better with several changes, and I think stands a good chance to pass. However many amendments are being prepared to be offered and when it runs its course through both houses it may practically be demolished as is sometimes the case. The house has passed a revenue measure by a large majority carrying a six mill and two mill state levy with a nuisance tax on show tickets, railroad fares, cigars and cigarettes, almost identically the same as the one the governor vetoed last spring and which the senate failed to pass over his veto. The final showdown will be a measure of this kind to raise the revenue, thus spending perhaps a hundred thousand dollars to do the same thing that was done then, but undone by the governor. If this is economy in government, may the good Lord deliver us from extravagance.

MARK LECTURES SUNDAY
Bela Mark's lecture, "Life as a Business Proposition", is to be delivered next Sunday evening, Oct. 14, at 7:30 o'clock in the auditorium of Grenada College at a union service of Grenada churches. Those who have read the lecture pronounce it a masterpiece and as well worth the attention of the citizenship of any community. Mr. Mark is a student and a thinker and The Sentinel feels safe in saying that those who hear him Sunday night will be well repaid.

40th North Mississippi Fair Proving Greatest in History

Annual Event at Grenada Closes Saturday—Auto Races to Feature Last Two Days—Murphy Shows on Midway Please Crowds—Robinson's Revue High-Class Entertainment—Free Vaudeville Acts Surpass Any Shown Here Before—Exhibits in All Departments Stand Out.

Crowds have poured into Grenada all the week from every direction for the fortieth North Mississippi Fair and Race Meet. The housing facilities of the town have been taxed to accommodate the visitors to what the unanimous verdict calls the greatest fair Grenada has ever had.

The free vaudeville program presented in front of the grandstand saved the day Monday in the amusement line as an unavoidable delay caused the D. O. Murphy Show to be about twelve hours late in arriving. But Tuesday morning the ballyhoo man was heard from end to end of the big midway crying the attractions and freaks in the good old fashioned way. Many new attractions and features have been seen this week that have never played at the North Mississippi Fair before.

In the exhibit halls everything is overflowing with beautiful displays of the products and wonders of the state, especially of north Mississippi.

The model Smith-Hughes School plant that fills a large central booth of the agricultural building is a wonder and inspiration in itself. The demonstrations given by these young farmers for the public in tool sharpening, farm plumbing, poultry culling, milk testing and other farm jobs are proving especially interesting and instructive to farmers of this and surrounding communities. The Smith-Hughes judging was held in front of the grandstand on Thursday.

Each booth representing its own community appears to be the prize booth until one turns to gaze upon another. Kirkman, Gore Springs, Holcomb, Sparta, Pea Ridge, Valley Consolidated School in Carroll County, Alva in Montgomery County and Otukolofa in Yalobusha county are among the exhibitors.

The poultry department, under the supervision of E. L. Atkinson, is a display of prize fowls of every description. From small bright colored bantam to giant strutting turkeys each seems to be the winning bird. Just a trip through this building is enough to awaken the farmers of Mississippi to its great possibilities as a poultry raising state. Champion hens from every part of the state are shown with their records as egg producers.

To the hog lover the swine department, in charge of R. West, is an inspiration. Champion Duroc Jerseys, Poland Chinas and Hampshires are shown. The herd classes are attractive this year. These consist of one boar and three sows bred by the exhibitor.

In the dairy cattle department, in charge of H. C. Hampton, outstanding in interest for visitors were Gold Medal Mary's Raleigh, being exhibited by the Mississippi State Hospital, and a Calhoun county Jersey bull. He was named grand champion at Jackson, Tenn., won first prize for 2 year olds at Nashville, Tenn., state fair, was grand champion at the Alabama state fair and grand champion at Chattanooga, Tenn., interstate fair. This bull is indeed a credit to the state. Tallahatchie Agricultural High School has a herd of beautiful Jerseys. Among them is the beautiful Sultan, an imported bull from the Isle of Jersey.

The Jerseys shown on exhibition this year rival those shown at the state fairs demonstrating the fact that north Mississippi ranks as one of the leading districts of the south in the dairy line.

Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday a Jersey cow was given away to some one attending the fair. These are bred, registered heifers and will be a credit to any herd. Today $100 in gold will be given away.

School day at the North Mississippi fair proved to be the banner day of the fair week when 15,000 school children from all over the northern part of the state thronged the grounds, many of them accompanied by their parents who helped to swell the overflowing crowd.

The Kraft Cheese Co. display, put on by the Kraft people of Water Valley, is causing quite a bit of comment. This being a new industry in the state and bearing so directly upon the products of the dairy farmer, it justifies all the attention received.

Field's Dairy booth, representing the model dairy farm owned and operated by B. O. Field, of Grenada, goes to show what the Jersey cow can do for the farmers of this community. Mr. Field built up this model farm from a run down cotton plantation and raised the dairy herd himself. Dairymen of this type are doing much to bring Mississippi to the fore as a milk producing state.

The Grenada County 4-H Club work is receiving a great deal of attention. Home made dresses, canned fruits, vegetables and berries, and various other things that are necessary to farm life are displayed.

The Boy Scout booth, in charge of Rev. R. W. Emerson, displays in full force the wonderful work this splendid group of tomorrow's citizens are doing. At the Girl Scout booth, information, first aid and various other valuable services are being rendered free. Many patrons of the fair have been taking advantage of this good work daily.

Standing out as a very interesting and instructive institution is the State Plant Board display of insects injurious to the plant life on the farm, also valuable formulae and insecticides used in destroying these pests. N. L. Douglass, of Grenada, who is with the state plant board and in charge of this booth, also has descriptions and plates giving plant diseases and their control. No farmer should fail to examine this display carefully, especially the work covering control of the corn borer, alfalfa weevil, boll weevil and other insects common and destructive to his crops. Housewives will appreciate the work being done toward the control of the Argentine ant.

The Robinson Revue is proving an attractive additional amusement at the fair this season. It is high class entertainment and is taking well with the lovers of good clean music, singing and dancing. It is acclaimed by all who have seen it as the best attraction of its kind ever seen here.

The races for the week have been among the best ever run here. Aeroplanes have added their stunts attractions daily and are taking many of the patrons up for a bird's eye view of the fair grounds and surrounding territory.

The woman's building, in charge of Mrs. Lafayette Atkinson and Mrs. Overton Pearson, is a floral paradise. It seems flowers have been made the specialty of this part of the great exhibition and it is doubted if a finer display of flowers will be exhibited in Mississippi this season.

The colored people of North Mississippi have also made a record for themselves in their splendid exhibit, in charge of Dave Wilson, a Grenada County negro, who merits greatest commendation for his indefatigable work to make the displays of his race a success. Yalobusha, Sunflower, Quitman, Marshall, Grenada and other counties are represented in the colored exhibits by canned goods, agricultural displays, carpentry work and the beautiful needlework art. A. H. Henderson, Grenada county negro demonstration agent, is also due much praise for the colored exhibit.

But probably the exhibit which is outstanding at this fair is the wonderful calf club exhibits of the 4-H club boys of 10 counties of North Mississippi.

L. A. Olsford, district extension agent for North Mississippi, stated that the following counties are represented in this exhibit: Montgomery County, M. S. Shaw, agent, with 13 calves; Lee County, A. G. Hamilton, agent, with 12 calves; Yalobusha County, J. C. Sides, agent, with seven calves; Carroll County, E. E. Johnson, agent with six calves, and Union County, W. C. Mims, agent, with six calves. About 35 of the winning calves at this fair will go next week to the great dairy show at Memphis.

The various county exhibits also deserve special mention. Many North Mississippi counties are represented, as well as many communities. The success of this phase of the fair is due largely to the hard work and perseverance of G. R. Fulton, Grenada County's agent, and Miss Ozella O'Bannon, home demonstration agent also of this county, who have worked without intermission for many weeks to make the county exhibits a success.

GIANT TALKING COW TO TELL NEW STORY

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 10.—A huge talking cow, standing eight feet high, will greet visitors entering the Exhibit Building at the National Dairy Exposition at Memphis, October 13-20, this year. The giant cow moves her head, switches her tail, rolls her eyes and speaks. Not alone does she do these things but she shows the spectators and her auditors how the process of mastication, digestion and assimilation works by a look on the inside. In front of the gargantuan cow stands a farmer discussing with her the question of what to feed. In the course of the conversation the points of better dairy feeding are brought out. The "farmer" is realistic and moves his hands as he talks.

The talking cow is but one of the many features of the exhibit of the United States Department of Agriculture and is supplemented by a complete picturization of the economics of profitable dairying.

The National Dairy Exposition will be held in conjunction with the National Cotton Show and the Tri-State Fair and as the circus ballyhoo men say 'One admission admits to all'.

MANY VAIN THINGS IMAGINED IN ELECTIONS.

The presidential election now pending is not unlike in many respects the thirty-three others which have preceded it.

The first contest over the presidency was in 1796. Washington was reelected in 1792 without opposition. In 1796 Thomas Jefferson was pitted against John Adams who was vice-president under Washington; Adams was successful and Jefferson was chosen vice president. Some of the fire and the fervor that mark the present contest were manifested even then.

In 1800 the political lightnings flashed and the political thunders roared, and many were led to believe that the national government was doomed in its earliest infancy. As it was in 1800, so has it been ever since except when Monroe was elected just after the war of 1812.

In some presidential years the contest has been more bitter than others, but in all except as noted above, charges and counter charges have been hurled back and forth. Dire prophecies have been made by opposites. The most striking instances of bitterness, vituperation and abuse were in the contests, first of 1823, when Jackson was chosen, that of 1860 when Lincoln was elected, and in 1884 when Cleveland was first elected.

Events following the elections have demonstrated that about half of the people of the country were wrong in the dire calamities predicted if the candidate of the other party were chosen. As it has been, so will it be in the present contest regardless of whether Smith or Hoover is elected. Chauncey Depew in responding to a birthday congratulation speech when he was 92, used these words:

"There is misery and worry in extremes, and all the good possible is not at either end."

Neither Hoover nor Smith will be able to bring to pass all the beneficent things their party leaders claim for them; nor will one one-hundredth part of the ills predicted follow the triumph of either.

The United States has never yet chosen a President who has not been true to the highest and the best in the country. Either of the two leading candidates may be relied upon to preserve and protect the flag and to be true to the great traditions that have set this country apart as the greatest in the world—great not only in resources but in the character of its people. There have been able and far-seeing Presidents and still abler and more far-seeing Presidents. They have all been patriots.

Naturally people divide as to issues and as to men. This divergence of thought leads to party organization and the organization that exists without some sort of discipline is a loose one and soon disintegrates. The Democratic party is as old as the government.

Let us not be deceived by the poisoned arrows of the political assassins that seem to be ever roaming up and down the land seeking putrid stuff upon which to feed and who are never better pleased than when they can induce others to share their feed with them.

Andrew Jackson was denounced as an adulterer, a blackguard and without presidential dignity. It was said of Lincoln that he was an illegitimate. It is recalled that Democratic newspapers in 1880 painted Garfield as a man unfit to be President. He was charged with acts that would be reprehensible even in a constable. He was elected and fell under an assassin's bullet in a few short months and then it was that the very newspapers which had cartooned him and called him a back salary stealer, praised him in the highest terms. And he was worthy of praise.

In 1884 Cleveland was denounced as brutal and as a destroyer of woman's character. He was cartooned as a hangman, a duty he performed while serving as sheriff of Erie County, New York.

In 1896, half of the nation was shouting Bryan and free silver at 16 to 1. The country was pictured as being devoured by the wolves of finance. Free silver was offered as a panacea for all public ills. It got to be "a moral" issue. Bryan was not elected, yet the grand old ship of state moved proudly on.

It was at this time that the South turned its back on Grover Cleveland. He was burned in effigy by the free silverites and, figuratively speaking, spat upon by our people whose friend he had proved himself to be. Because he was not for free silver, it was charged against him that "he ate dinner with a negro" and that he had been bribed repeatedly by Wall Street. Those who uttered these words afterwards acknowledged their error and fortunately he lived long enough to see that the Democratic party wanted to again nominate him for President in 1904.

In 1900, millions were made to believe that if McKinley were elected, he would take over the Philippine Islands and thereby start the nation on an era of imperialism that in the end meant the downfall of our democracy.

It is our honest judgment that the Republican party of the North in its sober, second thought, sees the question of the negro problem about as the South does, and as many of the best informed and best poised negroes now see it, and that they have about made up their minds to the fact that the negro is the South's problem and that they are willing to let the South handle it. One of the things that is bringing this right to their own door steps is the great number of negroes who have drifted north since the World War. It would be hard for us to believe that Hoover wants the lines of demarcation between the two races marked out, or that he believes in social equality.

The campaign of this year is perhaps the most bitter and vituperative that the country has ever experienced. Religionists are in it up to their ears and it is generally admitted that people often become fanatics about religious matters than about anything else, and that they know no bounds in denouncing those who see differently. Men who have registered to vote have subscribed to an oath that binds them to all clauses in the constitution and one of those clauses pledges that there shall be no religious test for office, yet we have men who claim to be enlisted under the banner of Him who taught love and brotherly kindness, fighting one of the candidates because he is a Catholic. They sing "Love lifted me", but in the next act, they say, "it didn't lift Catholics". In like manner they say, "God bless all the earth, but watch the Catholics". We do not believe that Herbert Hoover has aught to do with this and, if left to him, it would be stopped, but there are those high in the councils of the Republican party who are giving it every possible encouragement. The religious and church assaults were not initiated by the opposite party but by misguided and overzealous religionists without regard to party lines. How many of these church assaults will stick and what effect they will have on the final result, depend largely upon whether the rank and file takes the time to think and to look underneath the cloak being used to cover the attacks. The campaign by these pious parsons and others who mistake their prejudice for piety, shows that we are far from reaching the era of the Golden Rule, and that there is still a big stock of churchanity and a somewhat limited capital of Christianity.

The Christian churches which have allowed many of their leaders and numbers of their ministry to plunge headlong into this campaign will find themselves face to face with new problems when the election is over. Preacher-led and priest-led is merely a difference between tweedle-dum and tweedle-dee.

It has even been charged from the pulpit that Al Smith has two secretaries in his office as Governor, one of whom is a negro woman. Upon the authority of Senator Pat Harrison, The Sentinel states that the charge that he has a negro secretary is unqualifiedly false. But this is but on a par with hundreds of other wholly groundless allegations as to Smith.

Regardless of whether Smith or Hoover is elected, the country will continue to march forward; neither of these men would have the country take any backward step. Either will prove true to the great trust committed to him. Both are able; both are patriotic. For the purposes of this editorial, it is needless to discuss the policies either will pursue, if elected.

We see many bugaboos and imagine many vain things in election times. Our injunction is to provoke not your reasoning neighbor to wrath. The man has yet to be born who can deal properly with a bigot or with the spirit of the Pharisee.

TAX LEVY INCREASED ONE MILL—THE LESSON.

The proposition submitted to the electorate of the City of Grenada last Saturday to determine whether or not the tax levy for general purposes should be increased one mill carried by 5 votes. Hardly 25 per cent of the voters showed enough interest to go to the polls. These non-voters are estopped from having any just complaint now about taxes for the next year. The same proposition has been put before the electorate of Grenada twice during the past few years and defeated.

In truth it was a rather embarrassing situation that confronted the new administration. The deficit was not of its making. But this all aside. It is time that the city administration of Grenada was cutting the garment to fit the cloth. It is time to cease increasing assessments and adding still more to tax levies. It is time to rest on issuing bonds. It is time that trustees and commissions charged with erecting buildings and doing other kinds of public work should learn to complete the work with the bond money voted or the amount set aside for that purpose. This thing of always exceeding the money voted is a pernicious practice and should be frowned upon by all thinking citizens.

The state of Mississippi is floundering around in a mess today created by a spending practice.

BUILDING COMMISSION NEEDED SWATTING.

The building commission charged with the responsibility of erecting a new insane hospital at Rankin farm needed the swatting that Gov. Bilbo gave it when he vetoed the appropriation. But the Governor should have stopped his message right where he ceased to arraign the commission.

The legislature voted two and one-half million dollars to erect the new hospital. Experts said that was sufficient, and it was. The new hospital should have been completed within the appropriation. But as we understand they have erected palace gardens quite akin to those of Oriental history. Two and one-half million dollars is more than half of the assessment of the town of Grenada. The trustees or commissioners have spent what was appropriated and made plans for structures that require nearly two million dollars more. They acted without authority and what they did was prejudicial to the interests of the state. Ex-Gov. Longino voted against exceeding what had been appropriated to do the work. There needs to be a clamping of the lid on such practices by those charged with spending public money.

Standing here at 91 I naturally look back and recall the teachings that have been the source of my inspiration, health and happiness. They came from a remarkably brilliant woman, my mother. In her simple faith, the outstanding bulwarks of hope and happiness were trust in God, a firm belief that he will relieve critical situations by special Providences, and faith that whatever misfortunes may come they are simply discipline for your good to result in great blessings, if properly studied and acted upon.—Chauncey M. Depew.

Could Not Rest

Mrs. J. H. Nichols, who lives at 513 Elm Tree Lane, Lexington, Ky., says:

"Some few years ago, my health was bad. I had very severe pains in my sides. My nerves were in a terrible condition. I could not rest."

"The lower part of my body was very sore. I did not feel like eating, and did not sleep well at all at nights."

"A friend of mine recommended Cardui. I began taking it and saw quite an improvement in my condition. I kept it up until I felt strong and well."

About a year ago, Mrs. Nichols says, she found herself in a nervous, run-down condition. "I took Cardui again," she adds, "and it helped me wonderfully. It is a splendid tonic."

Cardui is a mild, medicinal tonic, made from purely vegetable ingredients. At all druggists.

THE GRENADA SENTINEL

Among those from Grenada and Grenada county who attended the Tri-State Fair this week were: Miss Annabel Hughes, Miss Velma Holland, R. W. Jones, William Barksdale, J. A. Martin, Jr., and wife, W. F. Martin, S. T. Tatum, C. O. Avert, L. B. Curtis and Mr. and Mrs. V. R. Patterson.

Messrs. J. T. Thomas, V. R. Patterson and Mrs. W. E. Smith, of the Grenada Bank force, attended the fair in Memphis this week. The chickens and the pigs from the chicken and pig clubs arranged for by the Grenada Bank cut no small figure in the poultry and live stock display at the fair.

Miss Corinne Turnage entertained last Sunday with a five-course dinner in honor of three brides and grooms who are Lieut. and Mrs. C. J. Hayden, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Turnage and Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Adams.

Mrs. G. P. Elliott and daughter, Miss Grace, went over to Grenada this morning to meet Mrs. Elliott's sister, Mrs. J. W. Crawford, of Hickory Flat, who will visit them.—Greenwood Commonwealth.

Private R. S. Mitchell, of Battery E, First Mississippi Field Artillery, Jackson, spent his furlough Monday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Mitchell, of this city.

Messrs. J. T. Keeton and A. T. McElwath visited the encampment at Jackson last Friday afternoon and came back in good cheer about Grenada boys.

Mrs. James Sims and two daughters spent Saturday and Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Fannie Benson, in Grenada.—Water Valley Itemizer.

Mr. H. G. Frazier and family and Miss Emma Jones Hardy and sister, of Minter City, were Grenada visitors Sunday and dined at the Planters Hotel.

Mrs. Mabel Bryant, of Grenada, spent a couple of days with relatives in the city this week.—Water Valley Herald.

Mr. J. G. Turnage has moved from Columbus to Winona to work on the Jefferson Davis Highway.

Mr. B. S. Elliott and his daughter, Miss Lois, were among those from Grenada county who left Monday for Memphis to attend the Tri-State Fair. Mr. J. L. Elliott and wife, of Holcomb, went up last Saturday to take in the fair.

Mr. Edward Jones, of Sidon, spent Sunday with his mother and sister, Mrs. G. B. Jones and Miss Eunice.

Revs. W. S. Shipman, of Itta Bena, and M. Johnson, of Hernando, were visitors at Grenada College this week.

Mrs. A. B. Haile has as her guest this week her sister, Mrs. M. H. Hill, of Owens Well, and they both went up to the Tri-State Fair Thursday to spend the remainder of the week.

Mrs. B. C. Duncan and Miss Corinne Turnage were the Grenadians present at the George Adams wedding in Greenwood last Saturday evening.

Miss Clyde Parker, of Graysport, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Willis.

Miss Martha Baker spent last week in the city with relatives and friends.

Judge J. G. McGowan, of Water Valley, was in Grenada Monday for a short time.

Dr. Byron Mitchell, Opt. D., of Winona, will be at Grenada Hotel October 8.

Miss Anna Bell Clark and Mrs. J. N. Provine, of Nebo community, were in the city Monday shopping.

Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Matthews have returned from a visit to relatives and friends in Memphis and other points.

Mrs. R. W. Maxey and Mrs. Hal D. Hill have returned from a visit to relatives and friends in Memphis.

Miss Julia Williams has returned home after a visit to Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Paine in Memphis.

Seaman Ed Wright, West End Naval Training Station, New Orleans, La., was home for a few days with his mother, Mrs. Belle Wright, and sisters.

The friends of Mr. W. K. Huffington, president of the Kosman Social Club, will be rejoiced to learn that he is again at his post as assistant cashier of the Grenada Trust & Banking Company, one of the strongest financial institutions in North Mississippi.

Grenada was glad to welcome Wednesday Mr. Oscar Baugh, Coahoma county's honored sheriff. He and Mr. Ed Brewer and Ex-Gov. Brewer were members of the party that came through the country with Hon. Pat Harrison.

Mr. Donald Ross, Mrs. Lamar Ross and Misses Mary Ross and Elizabeth Jones, returned from Memphis Tuesday, where they went to purchase a new car for Miss Jones.

Grenada sent four promising young men to the State University Monday to enroll for the coming session. They are: John Pressgrove, Virgil Wright, Bryan Baker and Frank York.

Rev. D. M. Floyd and wife, of Memphis, have been guests for some days of their son, Rev. C. T. Floyd, and family at Holcomb.

Mrs. Charles Gordon returned to her home in Como Sunday afternoon after a pleasant visit in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. James.

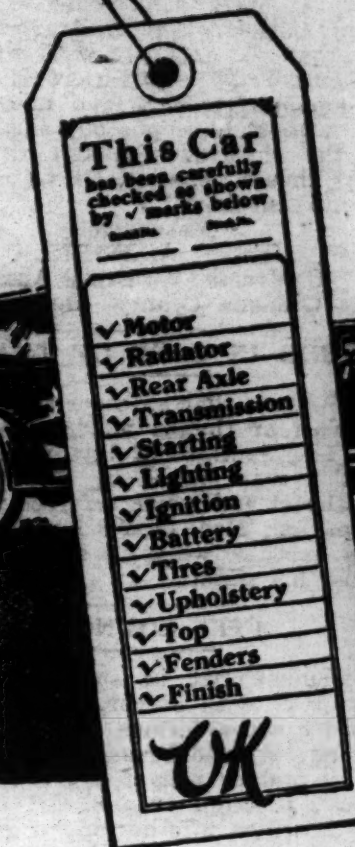

Sergeant Robert Long of Camp Pike, Ark., spent last Saturday and Sunday in Grenada with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Long.

Miss Lena McElwath, who is teaching Latin in the high school at Hernando, was forced to return home on account of illness. She will, however, return to Hernando as soon as she is well enough.

Miss Edna Stanford spent the past week-end with friends in her old home, Philipp.

40TH NORTH MISSISSIPPI FAIR PROVING GREAT-EST IN HISTORY

The Five DeCardos, Culbertson's Roman Circus and the Three Parisians, with their free vaudeville acts in front of the grandstand each afternoon, have been commented upon most favorably. They have been pleasing the vast throngs as former acts have never done. They are credited with adding much to make the 1928 fair the greatest of all.

D. D. Murphy Shows is providing the midday amusements for the third time in recent years at the Grenada fair. It is one of the cleanest amusement enterprises on the road today and its great variety of shows and rides have entertained thousands this week. The management and the personnel have impressed the public as being way above the average and they are adding daily to the friends they have made here on previous visits. Along the midway one, be he old or young, may find many features of instruction as well as of amusement. There are shows and freaks of all kinds and they are of an unusually high order. The Murphy Shows have more than lived up to their enviable reputation in high-class entertainment and none has been disappointed in the amusements offered.

A significant exhibit at the fair is that of the Mississippi Forest Service which emphasizes a striking change that is taking place in the forest products industries in the state. Every year a greater quantity and a greater variety of finished wood products are manufactured in Mississippi, gradually displacing the old system of shipping Mississippi logs and rough lumber elsewhere to be finished. The new industry not only pays better prices for timber but, what is more important, it is permanent, furnishing a steady local market for logs and an opportunity for the farmer to grow timber as a crop on poor land that had heretofore yielded him practically no profit. The forest exhibit shows also what every good farmer already knows and that is that forest trees do not grow at a profitable rate if the woods are allowed to burn over. Fire also reduces the quality and the value of the trees. The exhibit buildings are proving attractive to every visitor to the fair. In them are found displays of excellent quality heretofore shown at the fair. The booths give the appearance of representing greater care and thought in their preparation and each in itself is an artistic display.

Roy and Leslie Tanner and Frank Brannan, of Memphis, Al Smith, state champion of Charleston, Roy Groom, of Jackson, Rip Fanning, of Lexington, Tenn., and Ted Eaton, of Nashville, Tenn., have been here all week getting their cars in readiness for their attempts to set new records on the half-mile dirt track during the auto races Friday and Saturday. Thrills aplenty are promised those who witness the speed contests. The fair will continue through Saturday and if the crowds continue to come as they have been doing, new records for attendance will be made.

BRYAN'S JUDGMENT AS TO CATHOLICS

Great Commoner Said Catholics Preserved Religion.

William Jennings Bryan's utterance before the National Democratic convention at Madison Square Garden 1924 defined that great leader's position as to the Catholic church. Although a devout Presbyterian and no compromiser with wrong at any time, he made a plea against antagonizing anybody because he is Catholic and against church antagonisms that will live through the ages and that many believe will echo around the Golden Gates of heaven until man forgets himself and practices more of the tolerance and love shown by the Savior of men. What Bryan said just four years ago is worth the study of those who would proscribe a man now because he is an adherent of a certain church or because he does not belong to a particular branch of the Christian church. Here are the words of the dead statesman:

"In this country it is not necessary to profess a church. I have seen confidence in the Catholic Church, which was for 150 years, my mother church as well as yours that I deny it needs political aid. Seven

It was the Catholic Church that took our religion from its founders and preserved it—it was the only custodian—for over 15 centuries. When it did this for Catholics it did it for me and every Protestant. The Catholic Church with its legacy of martyr's blood and with the testimony of its long line of missionaries who went into every land, does not need a great party to protect it from a million Klansmen.

"The Jews do not need this resolution. They have Elijah, and they have also Elisha, who drew back the curtain and revealed upon the mountain tops an invisible host greater than a thousand Ku Klux Klans. The Catholic Church and the House of Israel have their great characters today who plead for respect for them whose pleading is not in vain.

"I am not willing to bring discord into my party. The Democratic party is united on all the economic issues. We have never been so united since I have known politics, and nobody has had more reason than I to regret past discord. Now, when we are united and face our political foes with dauntless courage and with enthusiasm never excelled those people tell us that we must turn aside from this titanic task, divide our party on a religious issue and cease to be a great political force.

"The Democratic party has never taken the side of one church against the other; the Democratic party must remain true to its traditions; it cannot surrender its rights to exist; it cannot be false to the mission that it had in the days of Jefferson, to which it remained true in the days of Jackson and to which it was still loyal in the days of Woodrow Wilson.

"My last objection is that I am not willing to divide the Christian Church, because if it is destroyed there is nothing to take its place. We must stand together to fight our battles of religion against materialism.

"There is only one who can bring peace to the world, and that is the Prince of Peace—the One at Whose coming the angels sang, 'On Earth peace, good will toward men.'"

"Jew and Gentile, Catholic and Protestant stand for God, on whom all religion rests, and Protestant and Catholic stand for the Christ. Is it possible that now, when Jesus—the hope of the world—is more needed than ever before—is it possible that at this time, in this great land, we are to have religious warfare? Are you willing to start a blaze that may cost innumerable lives to be sacrificed on the altar of religious prejudice? I cannot believe it; God forbid; I call you back in the name of our party, I call you back in the name of the Son of God and Savior of the world. Christians, stop fighting, let us get together and save the world from the materialism that robs life of its spiritual values. Banish the 'Hymns of Hate'; our song must be 'Blest be the tie that binds,' our hearts in Christian love."

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Weir, accompanied by their infant son, Louis, Jr., spent Sunday in Memphis with their sister and brother, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Thomas.

Mr. Frank Weir, Jr., of Belzoni, spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Weir, east of town.

TO OUR WOMEN OF GRENADA COUNTY

We are having a most urgent call from headquarters for campaign funds. This great work, to save our splendid youth as solid, can not be done without money. The amount received to date is $1,500,000 where as it will take $4,000,000 (the budget) to put through the campaign. The radio broadcasting alone will total $600,000. Will you not at once send over a small contribution? Anything from 50c up that you feel you wish to contribute. Truly this is a crucial time in our government and now that we women have put our shoulders to the wheel even though suffrage was thrust upon us, let us not be found "slackers".

Respectfully,
MRS. S. A. MORRISON,
Chairman Woman's Auxiliary
Grenada County Dem. Club.

ERROR IN CARD OF THANKS

It seems that an error crept into a card of thanks which appeared in The Sentinel of last week and which was signed by Mr. G. W. Cathcart and which referred to the departed, Mrs. Grace Jernigan, as his mother when it should have said, his sister.

CITY COUNCIL

Council met in special session Sept. 17 with mayor, marshal, recorder and aldermen Neely, Proby, Sneyd and Pressgrove present. City budget prepared for present year. Election ordered for Oct. 6 to determine whether or not general tax levy be raised from 6 to 7 mills.

ASSOCIATION COTTON SOLD DIRECT TO MILLS

G. M. McIntyre, sales manager of the Mississippi Farm Bureau Cotton Association is one of the busiest men in the state now, as the cotton selling season gets into full swing.

Mr. McIntyre has been sales manager of the association for the past two years and has been very successful in handling this important job for the members. He considers that he is working as a member himself, in the interest solely of every other member of the organization, and that it is up to him to keep himself posted about markets and conditions generally and to know how and when and where he may get the best price for the group he represents.

The cotton of association members is classified by government licensed classifiers, and as the grades are standardized and acceptable in any market of the world, there is no worry on that score, so the sales organization of the association has only to concern itself with the blocking out of the cotton according to merit in as large even running lots as possible, as in this manner they are able to secure the best prices, and finding the best market at the time of sales.

When cotton is delivered to the association, the member has the option of selling in either of the following pools: daily, semi-monthly or seasonal. When these pools are made up and the sales made, the member is paid the price or value of the cotton at the time of sale, less the advances that have been made by the association at time of delivery.

By maintaining their own sales organization the farmers are enabled to sell direct to the big mills and so cut out the inefficiencies, speculation and waste in between the grower and the ultimate consumer—the mills.

That the sales department has worked to best advantage for the farmers is shown by the fact that during the five years the association has handled 243,876 bales of cotton at a value of $19,836,707.55. Ever on the alert for the best markets, the sales department keeps in direct touch with the spinners and through crop reports, market reports and study of supply and demand knows the trend of the market and where sales at best prices may be made.

CHIPS OF LIFE

Farewell.

Out on the highway of life there's an old man ahead of you. He walks like you, talks like you and looks like you. He has your nose, your eyes, your facial characteristics. He acts like you, thinks like you, and whether he loves you or hates you, respects you or despises you all depends upon you. Because you made him—he is you. Every day you draw nearer to the old man that is you. Every day you are coming a bit closer to the old man that is in the making in all of us. It is up to you to decide what he will be like. It is up to you to make of him the kind of old man you will respect. It is up to you to say whether he will be a success or a failure, a gentleman or a hobo. It is up to you whether he will be kindly or grouchy, affectionate or hermit-like, courageous or cowardly. You must determine just what the old man's standing in the world will be. It is in you to determine whether he will be proud of you or ashamed, whether he will appreciate you or regret you.

Everything you do now will determine his attitude toward you. He will not be blinded to your faults nor indifferent to your dreams. Because he will have used them and found them bad or good. He will have tried them and found them wanting or worth while. It is well to act so that this old man will be in a position to think well of you, because if he doesn't like you then you have been a failure. There's an old man ahead of you going down the highway of life. He looks like you, acts like you, talks like you. He has your nose, your eyes, your facial characteristics. He is the sum-total of your life. It is well for him to think well of you. Live so that he will think well of you. Because you—you are his youth.

(Dedicated to the youth who hasn't yet arrived, and to John Rundle, the finest teacher of youth I have ever known. T. E. W., Jr.)

There are so many of us that are too busy to think of the little things of life. We hurry along and forget those little things that go so far toward making life worth while. Only once in a while we have the opportunity to do the big things, to make the supreme sacrifice, to play the hero, but every day we can do the little things that will make us loved by ourselves and those who know us. Most of us will not fall down in the crisis, most of us will make the supreme sacrifice, most of us have the stuff in us to do the heroic thing when heroes are needed, but very few of us do the little things that we could do every day that would prove the real standard of our character. Most of us are too busy to give the neighbor a friendly smile, to help someone else with his daily cares and troubles, to lighten someone's burdens just a little by a kind word, a few flowers, an interested question. Most of us are too self-centered to realize that those around us need a glad hand quite as bad as we need it. Most of us are too selfish, or too thoughtless to help out with the little things that go toward helping our neighbor in his daily existence. I sometimes wonder when a man lies in a cemetery, and the last rites on earth are said over him, if he could wake up and see those who are there, if he wouldn't be surprised. He would only know a few, a very few that had helped him while he was living, the rest would be sorry for him when it was too late. They had intended going by to see him, but they had been too busy, they had intended sending him a few flowers but had just neglected, they had intended—but it was too late. Neighbor, don't wait until it's too late before you show how you appreciate your brother. Don't wait until you see his corpse go by before you show that you loved him. It is today that that you have your chance. It doesn't matter that you send him flowers when he is gone, if you can't brighten his life by the flowers of every day kindnesses, it doesn't matter if you are sorry that John is gone, if you are not sorry for him and try to help him while he is with us. The flowers on his grave don't prove the sincerity of your feeling for him, he wouldn't want them, if you hadn't given him any flowers before he left you. It is easy to do the little things, if you will but try, it is easy to do the little kindnesses if you will but remember. Our truly greatest men never forget the little things. Lincoln put just as much of his soul into his letter to the woman who had lost her sons in the war as he did in his Gettysburg address. And whether you are ever famous or ever a success, if you have helped out in the little things that go toward making your neighbor's life worth while, if you are loved by all who know you by the kindnesses you show along life's way, then when you come to lay down your body on this earth, you will have weaved a crown of stars about your head that all the successes in the world could never have placed there, you will have made a hero of yourself where others have miserably failed. Because then you will have followed the most perfect man as near as you know how, because you will have lived for others and living for others is playing the hero in a far greater way than making a hero act in one great blow. Most of us will not fall down in the crisis, most of us will play the hero when heroes are needed, but I wonder how many of us are helping out in the little things that go toward making life worth while. Don't wait until it is too late, but start out tomorrow doing the little things that are easy but count so much and watch your life grow in richness and sweetness, and remember that when things are counted up the Savior has said "Inasmuch as ye have helped the least of these—" And you may be entertaining an angel unawares.

"The sun was just a shining down, Abazing on the little town, A mile or so way down the track, Advancing in the sun. But, somehow, as I waited there, There came a shiver in the air, The birds are flying south," he says.

"The winter has begun." And I am flying south, too, with the birds, and shall winter in that old city of enchantment, New Orleans. And it means saying farewell to my loved ones for a while and to this column. I have been writing this now in my own feeble way for several months. I do not know who reads it or who enjoys it, nor if it is enjoyed at all. But after all, I've done my best with what I had, to say something worth while. If I have failed, at least I have tried as hard as I know how. To those of my readers who have read this scribbling and liked it (if any do) I offer my hand through this column in a last handshake. I wish I could shake every one of your hands and talk to you and get some ideas. I love people anyway. Every new person, to me, offers a chance, a chance to explore, to find new ideas, new ideals. So to you who are my friends, who have endured this petty scribbling, who have even been good enough to flatter me by a good word now and then, I offer you my sincerest handshake. I love my friends for they are one of the greatest things that make life worth while. I hope that they will not forget me, and perhaps, in some future date, they will find something more in me to praise.

And those of you who find this writing dull and uninteresting, to you, too, I bid you, farewell. Would that I could have written something you would have liked, would that I could have reached your hearts with the strength of my pen. But I beg of you to remember that I've had no training, no college course, that I'm yet this side of twenty, and that what I've written, I had to write as best I knew how. I beg of you not to throw me into the wastebasket before I have had the opportunity to get the training I need so badly.

If my writing has no merit, nor ever has any, at least I can find solace in that little inspiration. "It is immensely better to try to do something, and fail, than to do nothing and succeed." I have made writing my life work. I have determined upon my course. I only hope that I may have the courage and strength to carry it through.

I have had some jolts in life, and have been side-tracked from the main line time and time again. But I believe that it sometimes takes jolts to wake us up, and I hope that I'm on the main line for keeps now. To those of you who don't know me personally, but only through public talk, I ask no compassion for the past, I only ask that you also watch me just as closely in the future. Sometimes we have to slip before we realize that the slip will hurt us, but we can only rise, remembering that a worm is about the only thing that can't fall down.

And now, that I've unburdened my soul, I'm through. I'm leaving Sunday to take my place with other youths at a great university. If anyone would care to write me, I shall appreciate your letters. I shall be at Tulane, New Orleans.

It is only when we have to leave things and people that we appreciate them. So, with all the sincerest and feeling that I have, I extend my hand and heart through this little column in The Sentinel to say farewell. To the editor, I offer my sincerest thanks for offering the chance to express myself each week. May The Sentinel thrive and advance in the hearts of the people.

And so, my readers, you who have helped me in my ambitions,

A GREAT ACHIEVEMENT

IMPROVED COLD WEATHER PERFORMANCE

Resulting from the

CROSS-FLOW RADIATOR

The cross-flow radiators in the cooling systems of the Pontiac Six and the Oakland All-American Six reduce to a minimum the evaporation of water and alcohol. An automatic thermostat prevents water circulation until the engine reaches correct operating temperature. As a consequence the engine warms up quickly and less choking is needed, reducing dilution of crankcase oil. Because of the protection the cross-flow radiator provides against losses of water and alcohol, the Pontiac Six and the All-American Six require less attention in winter than other cars. Also, through their thermostatic control, they reveal far better performance than other cars in their fields when the temperature is low... The cross-flow radiator is available only on the Pontiac Six and the All-American Six. Come in and see it. And learn while you're here of the many other advancements which only these two great General Motors Sixes provide.

PIANOS

WHAT MAKES A WINNER—

With present day competition any article to lead in sales over the entire country must have outstanding merit. Today the GULBRANSEN PIANO is the largest selling piano on the market.

An honest product with the name of the manufacturer on every piano. National price Branded into the frame of every piano when it leaves the factory.

Only the volume of sales and the tremendous resources of the Gulbransen organization makes it possible to sell such quality pianos for these reasonable prices. Uprights at $295.00, $315.00, $350.00, $390.00, $440.00. Grands at $650.00 and $850.00.

Any piano from our stock can be purchased for the small down payment of 10% of sale price, and balance divided into 30 monthly payments, with 6% interest per annum on unpaid balance. This price includes standard duet bench to match, and delivered to your home - no freight or drayage to be paid by customer.

It is no longer necessary to go outside our state to buy quality pianos. Ours is a Mississippi company, owned and operated entirely within the state.

Write us and we will gladly have a salesman stop by and go into the details of our plan.

Mrs. Jack Brown returned last week from several weeks' visit to her son, Mr. Chester Brown, and family, in Asheville, N. C.

Mrs. Claud Hall left Monday for Meridian to visit her son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Hopkins, Jr., and her little grandson, Claud Hall Hopkins.

Mr. Tom Salmon left last Thursday for A. & M. to resume his studies there. He was accompanied by Mrs. Salmon and Mr. John Talbert Salmon, the latter returning the next day.

Mrs. Drew Roane and attractive daughter, Miss Daisy Leigh, left Wednesday for a ten days' visit to Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Roane, Jr., at Iuka.

Mrs. Gordon Patton, of Jackson, left the middle of last week for her home, after several days' visit to her sister, Mrs. Bruce Newsom, and her father, Mr. J. C. Cavett.

Miss Louise Baker is expected home Saturday from the Industrial Training School at Meridian, to visit her father, Mr. W. R. Baker, and Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Baker, for a week.

The many friends of Mr. Will Salmon are glad to see him able to be out after a severe illness which attacked him on Saturday last.

Miss Daisy Leigh Roane spent several days this week at the University at Oxford, to enjoy "rush week" which is "on", by the Tri-Delta Sorority of which she is a member.

Mrs. W. H. Lewis and two charming daughters, Misses Mary and Marguerite, of Memphis, spent last Saturday and Sunday in Grenada. They were accompanied as far as Sardis Sunday afternoon by Messrs. Keene Huffington and Harry Greenfield.

Mrs. Dawson Winter and little son, Archibald Roane Winter, left last week for Jackson, after several months spent in Grenada and Monticello this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Caldwell, of Charleston, spent Monday with their son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Sharp, in their lovely home on Snider Street.

Miss Lena Elma McElwath returned the latter part of the week from several months' visit to her sister, Mrs. Hamilton Graves, at Miami, Florida.

Dr. H. T. Rogers returned Tuesday night from an extended trip to Texas.

Monday afternoon Mrs. E. S. Lewis entertained the members of her Missionary Circle, No. 4, of the Methodist church, most delightfully. After the business was finished, Mrs. J. C. Brown and Mrs. Morris Wells gave the third and fourth chapters of the study book, "Woman and the Kingdom" most interestingly. Delicious ice cream was served at the close of the program by Mrs. Lewis' daughter, Mrs. Walter Allen McCool. This circle, as well as the entire missionary society, of which she is president, regret exceedingly the leaving of Mrs. Lewis after the north Mississippi conference session next month.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Dyre are occupying their lovely new home on South Street, having just recently moved in.

Last Friday night Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Baker entertained most delightfully for their father, Mr. W. R. Baker, in honor of his seventy-second birthday, with a surprise dinner. A lovely birthday cake with seventy-two candles burning brightly on it, decorated the center of the table and a most enjoyable time was had by those present, Mr. and Mrs. Will Martin and Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Whitaker being the honored guests. Mr. Baker's little grandson, Bryan Baker, Jr., gave thanks for the meal. Mr. Baker's many friends wish for him many more pleasant birthdays.

Mr. J. G. Turnage, of Harrisburg, Ark., visited his mother, Mrs. A. D. Turnage, and sister, Mrs. Lucille Hornor, last week, having come over for the funeral of his uncle, Mr. B. C. Duncan.

Mrs. Kate Duncan George, of Austin, Texas, left last Saturday after being the guest of her sister, Mrs. B. C. Duncan, for ten days.

Mrs. Wilson, of Dermott, Ark., is visiting her sister, Mrs. R. W. Carter, who has just undergone a serious operation and is now in Grenada Hospital, where she is improving rapidly. Mr. and Mrs. Carter moved to Grenada recently from Dermott. Mr. Carter is superintendent of the Boone Co. Coopera Co. Grenada welcomes these good people as citizens of the community.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Wilbourn and two little girls, Annie Bee and Betty Lou, of Friars Point, spent the week-end with their sister and aunt, Mrs. Dudley McLeod.

Mrs. Albert Bonelli, of Vicksburg, spent several days last week with her mother, Mrs. A. D. Turnage, and her sister, Mrs. Lucille Hornor, having come up for the funeral of her uncle, Mr. B. C. Duncan.

Mrs. Will Moore and Miss Jessie Edgeworth, of Amory, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Durro Horn in their lovely new home on Union Street.

Miss Essie Ree Bennett, of Winona, was the guest of Mrs. Durro Horn Tuesday for the Grenada fair.

Rev. A. T. Clanton, pastor of Batesville Methodist church, was the guest of his brother, Dr. R. A. Clanton, and family Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Fisackerley, Frances Rush and Mr. Douglass Mallatte, of Lynne, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Bilups and family.

Mrs. Robert Crenshaw and Mr. Austin Crenshaw, of Greenwood, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Crenshaw Sunday.

Misses Mary Ann Crenshaw and Dit Perry, seniors of Grenada High School, were the winners of the contest recently held to decide who should be the sponsors for the Grenada football team. These two young ladies received the same number of votes, so there will be two sponsors instead of one. Their many friends are congratulating them on receiving this honor.

Mr. J. C. Cavett expects to leave Friday (today) for Oxford to visit his daughter, Mrs. J. H. Dorroh, for a few days.

Mrs. Paul Sisk was hostess to circle No. 1, of the Missionary Society of the Methodist church Monday afternoon. Mrs. Bruce Newsom, mission study leader, gave the third and fourth chapters of "Woman and the Kingdom" most interestingly. Mrs. Sisk read a Scripture based on "Loyalty." Delicious sandwiches and sherbet were served at the close of the meeting by the hostess.

Mrs. William Sidden and son, Harold, of Alva, were the guests of their sister and aunt, Mrs. D. W. Rose, for the fair Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Gresham and Betty Ann spent Sunday in Oxford.

Miss Lurline Bradshaw, of Dyersburg, Tenn., is visiting her sister, Mrs. Perry Jones, on Second Street.

John Goza, Rice Pressgrove and John Province spent the past week-end with their parents. They are attending Mississippi College at Clinton. Frank Brooks, of Calhoun City, accompanied them this far.

Mrs. Sam Williamson and son, James, and Miss Thelma Jennings, of Pleasant Grove, were here Tuesday for the fair. James was one of the boys from the Smith-Hughes department, connected with the egg grading exhibit, and will be here until the fair closes.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Todd and Miss Katherine Todd, returned the first of last week from a most delightful trip out west.

Mrs. Evans Townes, Mrs. Homer Spraggins, Mrs. John Hughes, and Mrs. Littleton Wynne, of Minter City, spent Tuesday afternoon in Grenada, with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Henderson and baby daughter, left Wednesday for Tallulah, La., where they will make their home in the future. Mrs. Henderson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hill.

Mrs. Joe Thompson of Hattiesburg, spent Sunday with her son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Seale.

Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Moore and daughter, Miss Lynn, of Sardis, have moved to Grenada and are occupying the Cuff home on the corner of Second and Oak Streets.

Mrs. Knox Pierce left Tuesday to visit relatives at Tupelo until the last of the week.

Mr. E. R. Proudfit spent Sunday in Sardis and was accompanied home Sunday night by Mrs. Proudfit and son, Duval, who called home ten days before on account of the illness of their aunt, Miss Emma Duval.

Dr. and Mrs. V. H. Ward, of Batesville, spent Thursday and Friday of this week with their son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Joan Pressgrove to attend the fair.

Miss Aline Ramsey, one of the Grenada city school teachers, is spending this week-end in Durant with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. John Huffington spent last Saturday in Memphis.

Mrs. J. K. Avert and two children, Louise and Kiri, Jr., are visiting their mother and grandmother, Mrs. Thurman, in New Orleans, having gone down the first of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Cathey and daughter, Miss Maxine, and Miss Virginia visited friends in Water Valley Sunday.

Additional Locals

College Girls Have Party.

The students of Grenada College were given a holiday Tuesday in order that they might have plenty of opportunities to visit the Grenada fair which is now in progress at the fair grounds. Practically the whole student body spent the day enjoying the excitement the fair offered. In the evening the members of last year's faculty entertained the new members with a progressive party. The first stop was made in the expression studio which was decorated in dahlias and other garden flowers; here the guests were served the first course by Misses Ruth Bale, Jesse Mae Gill, and Margaret Harris. After this the new teachers were escorted to the domestic science house for the second installment of the menu. The reception rooms of the house were attractively decorated with fall flowers gathered from the woods; at this place Misses Bertha Baker, Dorothy Rose, Catherine Perry and Mildred Stoves acted as hostesses. The third course was served in the art studio by Misses Fay Griffith, Sallie Parnell, Corinne Laney and Sophie Alston. The studio was arranged very attractively as the work-shop of art students. The final stop of the party was made at the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. R. Coutiss where after-dinner coffee and mints were served. Dr. and Mrs. Coutiss were assisted in serving by Mrs. Ella Ford, Mrs. Edmonia Ford and Miss Catherine Johnston. The reception room and dining-room were profusely decorated with garden roses. Miss Johnston and Mrs. Ella Ford poured coffee from a beautifully arranged table.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Fletcher, of Canton, were the week-end guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Ladd, in Grenada.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Ladd, Jr., of Memphis, are guests this week of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Ladd, on Poplar Street.

Dr. and Mrs. E. L. McDaniel, who are here for a short visit with friends, are being cordially welcomed back home. They reside now in Aberdeen where Dr. McDaniel is one of the leading chiropractors.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellett Lawrence and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Lawrence and infant daughter were here from Greenwood Sunday to spend the day.

Profit is earning power—less expense.

Earning power of Graham Brothers Trucks has always been high. Expense is low. The difference—profit—is greater with Grams than with any other motor truck, in the experience of thousands and thousands of truck owners . . . And owners invest more than $65,000,000 each year in these money-making trucks.

Now—with 6 cylinder engines and 4 wheel brakes in every size and type and with 4 speed transmissions in the 1¼, 1½, 2 and 3-ton trucks—their earning power is even greater. They are built complete in the correct sizes and body types to fit 96% of all hauling needs.

Whatever your business, whether you sell a service or a commodity—profit is your goal. With Graham Brothers Trucks profits are greater and more certain . . . ## A Rich Man's Darling or a Poor Man's Slave?

FOR a girl reared in her father's saloon, Anna's exquisite beauty seemed incredible. Yet how she loathed her surroundings! If some one would only take her away and give her a chance for real happiness.

When wealthy Carl Morton, struck by her beauty, offered to "adopt" her—give her a lovely home, beautiful clothes—everything—it seemed her dreams had come true. But when Anna realized that she was simply being "bought," she flamed with revolt. Since her father was determined on the "adoption," there was only one way out. That night she boarded a train for the city, where, friendless and alone, she soon found herself eking out a miserable existence.

Then Frank Weston came into her life.

November

Frank was poor, but loved her—wanted to marry her. But at thought of the future, Anna's heart quailed. Life with Frank meant honorable marriage—but it also meant more poverty, hardship and struggle. Could she do it? Were honest love and her own honor worth the sacrifice? Carl Morton, who offered her every luxury, would still welcome her. Would it not after all be better to be a rich man's darling than a poor man's slave? Don't miss the rest of this profoundly moving story. It is entitled "Is There Any Escape?" and appears complete in the November True Story Magazine.

Lesson for October 14

SPIRITUAL GIFTS

LESSON TEXT—I Cor. 12:3-7, 31; 12:1-6

GOLDEN TEXT—Now abideth faith, hope, charity, these three; but the greatest of these is charity.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Love is the Best of All.

JUNIOR TOPIC—The Greatest Thing in the World.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Greatest of All Gifts.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Spiritual Gifts.

Joel predicted a remarkable effusion of the spirit in Messianic times (Joel 2:28, 29; cf. Acts 2:17, 18).

Before the crucifixion, Jesus promised to send the Holy Spirit to be the helper and guide of His people. This was historically fulfilled on the day of Pentecost. The gifts of the Spirit were extended to all classes. Not only were these endowments marked by great profusion, but by great diversity. In the exercise of these gifts confusion would surely arise. Divine life, suddenly poured into human nature, stirred it to unusual power. In view of the abuses and confusion which are likely to arise from such condition, it is highly important that certain principles be set forth for guidance and regulation.

I. The Infallible Criterion (1 Cor. 12:3).

The infallible test which determines whether gifts are spurious or genuine is one's conception of and attitude toward Jesus Christ. Only those who recognize Him as God manifest in the flesh, His vicarious atonement on the cross, and submit to Him as their Lord, can be recognized as possessing the gift of the Holy Spirit. Christ said before leaving the earth that when the Spirit came His supreme business would be to testify to Him, to take the things of Christ and show them unto the people. The soundness of the faith of a man is the sign of this commission from God. Regardless of eloquence or learning, the man who does not thus view Christ should not be tolerated as a teacher.

II. The Diversity of Spiritual Gifts (1 Cor. 12:4-11).

In the church there are to be found those possessing the gift of wisdom, knowledge, faith, healing, miracles, prophecy, discernment of spirits, divers kinds of tongues and the interpretation of tongues. Whatever the form of the gift, they are all manifestations of the same Holy Spirit dwelling in the church for the edification of the body.

III. The Unity of the Spirit's Gifts (1 Cor. 12:12-30).

Christian unity is only possible when effected by the one Holy Spirit. This unity amidst diversity is represented under the figure of the human body. The church, which is the body of Christ, is an organism as really as the human body.

1. The human body has many members, each performing distinct functions for the good of the body (v. 12).

2. The members are mutually related and independent (vv. 13-17).

3. The place of each member is determined by the choice of God (v. 18).

4. The members which are least attractive and least conspicuous are most important (vv. 21-23).

IV. Love the Spirit's Best Gift (1 Cor. 12:31-13).

1. The pre-eminence of love (vv. 1-3).

It transcends.

(1) Speaking with tongues.

(2) The gift of prophecy.

(3) Faith of the most vigorous kind.

(4) Philanthropy of the most generous sort.

(5) Heroic devotion leading to martyrdom.

2. The attributes of love (vv. 4-7).

(1) Long-suffering and kind.

(2) Free from envy.

(3) Freedom from boasting.

(4) Decorous and well behaved.

(5) Unselfish.

(6) Does not give way to passion; is not quick tempered.

(7) Thinks no evil; does not impute evil motives to others; is not suspicious.

(8) Delights not in evil.

(9) Beareth all things.

(10) Is truthful, hopeful and firm.

3. The permanence of love (vv. 8-13).

Prophecy as prediction will be fulfilled. Prophecy as teaching will be brought to an end in the day when teaching is not needed. Tongues shall cease, for as the languages of earth were caused by God's judgment for sin, so shall Christ's redemption bring the nations back to one tongue. Knowledge shall be done away with the coming of a wider and nobler intelligence. The twilight will be lost in day, childhood shall be lost in maturity. Love will always abide, for God is love.

5. The comparative value of prophecy and tongues (14:1-25).

Prophecy is given the highest place because it is to declare God's message to men. Its primary meaning is to foretell. To speak with tongues means to speak in other languages for the purpose of showing the presence of God.

WHAT THE DRUG STORE MEANS TO THE PUBLIC

This is Pharmacy Week and recognition is due to the men and women who seem to work all the time behind counters and partitions in the service of a mostly unappreciative public.

"The drug store is an American institution. All druggists are philosophers, sometimes of the misanthropic school—and small wonder. O. Henry began life as a drug clerk and he took the trade into his later work. Other men of leadership have begun the same way. A pharmacist must know everything, from the highly skilled compounding of a vital prescription to the best brand of lipstick. He must have a marvelous memory, or the names of all the proprietary medicines he sells would not be on the tip of his tongue. He knows all the neighborhood gossip and mostly keeps it to himself. In a small town he is a figure of influence, known to all. His title of 'Doc' he wears becomingly.

"Drug stores have figured in national life. The Scopes evolution case, that had the world standing on its head for awhile, started in one. Behind more than one prescription case vast political schemes have been hatched. Lincoln did not disdain to foregather with cronies behind one in Springfield. Soda fountains today dominate the beverage industry and 'soda jerkers' run off with rich widows.

"Physicians respect and depend on pharmacists as fellow practitioners. They must work together, and they do. The proprietor of a drug store is also, as well, a father confessor. He is all the time asked to prescribe for minor ailments, and when there is a street accident he is called on to provide first aid.

"Pharmacists handle deadly drugs every day; how seldom they make a mistake! Pharmacy is an exact science; in the nature of things it must be. Prescription experts seldom are seen, but they exert a tremendous influence over life and death.

"Drop in to see your druggist this week. He is a good fellow."—Newark Evening News.

Column About Colored People of Grenada County Items by J. H. Phillips

(Crowded out from last week)

Preston White Dies

Preston White was born in Grenada County, Miss., about 8 miles east of Grenada on what is known as the Captain Crowder's place, about Oct. 10th, 1850. He was married to Elizabeth Crowder about 1871. He was the father of 13 children, 6 to mourn his loss, his first wife and 7 children having departed this life some years ago. Preston professed a hope in Christ and joined the Bethlehem Missionary Baptist church about 1885 and was always regarded as a trustworthy and upright negro. He moved from the eastern part of the county about 1888 to the Sweet Home neighborhood where he had purchased a tract of land where he had been ever since. After the death of his first wife he was married to Maggie Thomas about 1908. She and 6 children are left to mourn his loss. Preston's health had been failing him for some 5 or 6 months before his death. He had been under the care of a physician for quite a while but finally a few days before his death he was advised to consult a specialist in Memphis. He arrived at a Memphis hospital Sept. 26th and died the morning of Sept. 30, 1928. All that is mortal of him was deposited in the cemetery of the Sweet Home neighborhood.

The Bethlehem Baptist Church recently closed a very successful revival service which resulted in 30 conversions who were baptized and 10 accessions to that church. Rev. C. H. Gallion preached several convincing and inspiring sermons to the extent of a general spiritual awakening. In addition to the religious fervor aroused a financial success also came in the reckoning, a contribution of $52.15. Rev. A. B. Frazier is the pastor of this church and he is an excellent preacher.

Henry McBeth, an old citizen of this community, died Sept. 15th. He was a good man and much respected by all who knew him.

Mr. A. H. Henderson, assistant farm demonstrator, announces that the fair association will give free tickets to all school children on Tuesday, the second day of the fair meet, instead of on Monday, as heretofore. Children will meet at the (col) high school building of this city and get their tickets here. (Continued on page 7)

{The new Buick} is the new Style

Nowhere such beauty and luxury ---- nowhere such pleasing lines and contours ---- nowhere Bodies that equal these new Masterpiece Bodies by Fisher--The entire country is saying, "That's the Style"

Setting an entirely new, a revolutionary, style—introducing what will unquestionably be the trend of smart body-design during the next several years—the new Bodies of the Silver Anniversary Buick are enjoying universal acclaim as the most original and distinctive, as well as the finest and most beautiful ever created by the world-famous Fisher organization!

Here is not only a new car but a new vogue—a vogue of symmetry, born of graceful contours instead of straight lines—a vogue of distinction, derived from sparkling colors, brilliant chrome-plating and arresting new roof, radiator and fender design—a vogue of tasteful luxury, composed of finest mohair velvet upholstery, artistic hardware and fittings and new appointments of comfort and convenience.

The entire country is hailing the Silver Anniversary Buick. The entire country is saying, "That's the style!"

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT... BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

You can buy this SAFE motor oil by the quart at any Pan-Am station; or in the handy five- and one-gallon tins shown here.

MOTOR OIL QUALITY starts underground

CAREFUL refining is important, of course. But no motor oil can be tougher or longer-wearing than the crude petroleum from which it is refined.

That is why only pure paraffin-base crudes are used in making Pan-Am Motor Oil. For nature has given this kind of petroleum exceptional qualities. It produces a motor oil that no other type can equal in safety and long wear.

The qualities of Pan-Am are similar in all respects to those set up by the leading automotive engineers as the ideal lubricant for modern motors.

Fill up, today, at the first Pan-Am station you see. Every dealer has a scientifically prepared chart showing just the right grade of Pan-Am Motor Oil to protect your car.

The Pan-Am sign says "You can trade with confidence here." It is only issued to dealers of proved reliability.

With Stomach Spells

"I have taken Black-Draught ever since I was a child, and can recommend it as a splendid medicine for family use," says Mrs. Cora Maberry, of Sagesyah, Okla. "My mother used it, in bringing up her family, and after I had a home of my own, I continued to use it, as I thought it was good to give the children."

"My children did not mind taking Black-Draught, and so when they got upset with stomach spells, or were constipated, I gave them Black-Draught tea."

"They are all grown now and have homes of their own, but I still keep Black-Draught in the house and use it myself when I wake up in the morning feeling dull and 'head-achy', and have a bad taste in my mouth."

In use over 67 years.

A SPLENDID FEELING

That tired, half-sick, discouraged feeling caused by a torpid liver and constipated bowels can be gotten rid of with surprising promptness by using Herbine. You feel its beneficial effect with the first dose as its purifying and regulating effect is thorough and complete. It not only drives out bile and impurities but it imparts a splendid feeling of exhilaration, strength, vim, and buoyancy of spirits. Price 60c. Sold by CORNER DRUG STORE

25 YEARS AGO IN GRENADA

From the Files of
THE GRENADA SENTINEL

Mr. Grinter, of Allensville, Ky., arrived here the first of the week and has assumed charge of his duties as clerk in Hughes' popular drug store.

Miss Lela Beck, of Grenada and Mr. W. D. Saunders were united in marriage in St. Louis, Wednesday, Sept. 16th, 1903. The bride is the estimable daughter of Mr. D. W. Beck, Circuit Clerk, and has many excellent qualities of head and heart. The groom is a promising and intelligent young business gentleman of St. Louis, and is to be congratulated on winning such a worthy young lady.

Johnny Bradford, a handsome gallant of Grenada County, was the guest of J. L. Lovett Sunday, being on his way to attend the A. & M. College, at Starkville.—Dixie Press.

Mr. Max Ginsburger, his excellent wife and bright young daughter, Mabel, returned home this week, after spending the summer at Northern and Canadian resorts. We are glad to see Max looking like "Richard is himself again." They are warmly welcomed home.

Miss Cora Sherman, one of our most popular and charming young ladies, has returned home after spending the summer in a most pleasant manner with relatives in Virginia.

Mr. J. M. Thomas, the venerable and pleasant father of Prof. J. T. Thomas, spent Sunday in Grenada. Although 72 years of age, he is still hale and hearty.

Miss Lida Roane, of West Point, and Mrs. Helen Hanks, of Carrollton, are visiting Misses Dubard, this week.

Mrs. L. G. Aldridge, of Lobdell, Miss., is visiting the hospitable home of Mrs. G. W. Talbert.

The Grand Central Fair, Races and Live Stock Exhibition will take place at Grenada on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, October 8th, 7th and 8th, 1903. Reduced rates will be given by the railroads. For several years this fair has been conducted at Grenada with increased success each year. This promises to be the best year the management of the fair has ever had. Everything in contemplation is arranged for the most splendid displays and instructive exhibits, and it will be a source of pleasure and profit to attend this fair. The management has spared no pains in arranging for every attraction. Their work has not been in vain. Everything points to an occasion of large success.—Water Valley Itemizer.

Miss Annie Laura Owens left last week for the I. I. & C. at Columbus.

Good molasses can be had for only 30 cents per gallon, at H. M. Richards.

More than one hundred boarding students have already entered the Grenada Female College.

Misses Myrtle and Fern and Mr. Everett Ellison have returned home after spending a few months with relatives at Mattoon, Ill.

Miss Nellie Carl, who has charge of the Commercial Department in the Grenada Female College, will resume her work Oct. 1.

The Ten Eyck Club gave an autumn ball at Mullin Opera House on Thursday night, October 8, and it was truly an enjoyable occasion. Besides our own beautiful ladies and handsome young gentlemen, there were quite a number present from other places. The happy dance will linger in the memory of all who participated in the festive occasion. The event was most happily conceived, and splendid order was maintained throughout.

Mr. Jos. Newburger gave an elegant dining at the Grenada Hotel Wednesday evening in honor of Miss Alice Quiggins, of Holly Springs, and Mr. Luther Ellis also entertained in honor of the same lovely young lady Thursday evening, both of which were highly enjoyed. About six couples were present at each dining.

Our old friend, Mr. W. T. Bullfin, of Brownsville, Tenn., attended the fair here this week, as he usually does. He is a fine social gentleman, who always receives a warm welcome in Grenada where he is well known. He was the guest of his cousin, Mrs. S. C. George.

On next Friday evening, Oct. 16th, at the college chapel, the teachers of the piano, violin, voice and elocution departments will give their first public recital. Some of these ladies will make their first appearance in Grenada at that time, yet we know all of them sufficiently to promise interesting entertainment to all who attend. Everybody invited. Admission free.

Miss Fessie Gibson, of Smith Mills, was visiting her uncle, Mr. J. A. Fielder, this week.

The redoubtable Mr. C. B. Hoffa, of Memphis, was at the fair Thursday wearing his usual smile.

Miss Alice Quiggins, a beautiful and charming young lady of Holly Springs, is the guest of Miss Ruby McLeod.

While on his way to Memphis to finish his medical course, Dr. B. F. Green, of Drew, Miss., spent Monday night with his aunt, Mrs. M. L. Phillips.

Married
At the residence of the bride's mother in Graysport, Miss., Sept. 23, 1903, Mr. S. J. Terry, of Calhoun county, and Miss Beulah Anglin were married by Rev. T. B. Williamson. The groom is a prominent and worthy gentleman of Calhoun county while the bride is an estimable and popular lady. We wish them much happiness.

The Citizens Band will furnish the music for the fair. It has received some new music and is doing good practicing for the occasion. Every member of the band hopes to be in perfect trim.

Miss Mabel Armstrong, of Coffeeville, and Miss May George Aldridge, of Greenwood, will be the guests of Mrs. J. P. Broadstreet during the fair.

Hon. Wm. C. McLean was in Jackson this week on business. He expressed himself as delighted with Mississippi's magnificent new capitol.

Mr. S. T. Tatum recently purchased a handsome lot from Hon. Wm. C. McLean on Main Street, next to and north of Judge Roane's residence. He has given the contract to Mr. W. H. Moss to build a handsome two-story residence, and operations will soon commence. We congratulate Mr. Tatum on his good taste and enterprise.

Mrs. S. H. Knox is adding another story to her residence which, when finished, will add very much to her home.

Our friend, Mr. C. C. Provine, has been wearing an unusual smile during the past few days. Cause: His elegant wife on Tuesday night presented him with a handsome eleven pound girl.

Mr. Herman Spearman, of Air Mount, Miss., spent a few hours in Grenada Wednesday en route to Nashville, Tenn., where he will enter a medical college.

Mr. J. H. Prouditt and family recently moved to Grenada from Sardis where they were considered among her best and most reliable citizens. Mr. Prouditt purchased a residence from Mrs. S. H. Knox and is having the same put in a first class condition and otherwise improved. We welcome this excellent family to our town.

Mr. Walter H. Hogan, of the delta, is paying his sisters a pleasant visit this week.

Everett Phillips returned Wednesday after a few days' visit to relatives at Drew and Isola, Miss.

Mr. B. E. Eskridge, a prominent young business gentleman of Baton Rouge, La., spent last Sunday in Grenada, visiting relatives. He was raised in Grenada and has many friends here.

The genial Mr. W. M. Miers is receiving the congratulations of his friends, caused by the arrival of a fine boy at his home Thursday morning. "They say" it looks just like its "papa".

COLORED COLUMN

fore going to the fair grounds. Rev. B. F. Woolfolk, pastor in charge of Clarksdale M. E. church, died Saturday at noon at his parsonage in that city. He had been in failing health for several months. The end came almost without warning. The citizens of this town and especially Vincent M. E. church are sadly bereaved. He was at one time the beloved pastor of this flock and while in this community he so deported himself that the entire community loved him and will be grieved to hear of his death. Rev. Woolfolk was a high churchman, an excellent preacher and a model Christian gentleman. He was for years the secretary of upper Mississippi annual conference and was always elected without opposition. He was held in high esteem by his brethren. The funeral service was held in Clarksdale and interment was at Greenwood.

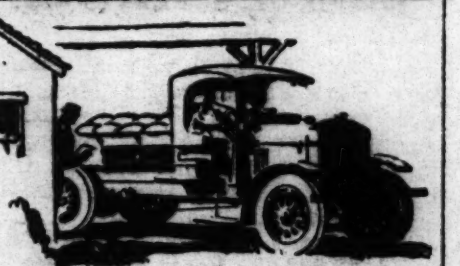

Rev. R. L. Flynn, pastor in charge of Powell Chapel A. M. E. had a paralytic stroke Sunday morning while in his pulpit extending an invitation to his audience for membership. He realized his condition and called for assistance which was ready and immediate. He was carried to his room and the service of a physician called. His case was pronounced serious. The sympathy of the entire community goes out for him.

The Progressive Civic Club, an organization of our group for the improvement of our civic, social and moral life, made an effort last Thursday night to impress the principal and faculty of our school that the citizens of Grenada are proud of their presence as instructors of our children and offered in evidence a banquet in their honor. It was a splendid social occasion in which the faculty and members of the club with their wives participated around a table loaded with an elegant supper. Mr. D. L. Brown, as toastmaster, presided. Remarks were made by several members of the club and all went away feeling that they had been well paid by being present.

Mrs. Rosa Trussel, wife of Millard Trussel, died Sept. 23. She was 62 years of age at her death. She was united in wedlock to Millard Trussel in the year 1885. To them were born a large family of children, six of whom survive her. The 43 years of married life was without a jolt of unhappiness. She was highly respected by her neighbors and in the community she lived. She was an industrious Christian woman. Mrs. E. L. Wooten, of this city, is one of the six children who survive her. She leaves besides a devoted husband, four sisters and a host of admiring friends. May she rest in peace.

Mr. J. H. Phillips:
I will be glad if you let appear in The Sentinel the visit of attorney Dennis Henderson of Louisville, Ky., to the Hardiman Chapel community. I solicited an address from him while he was here visiting his father, Prof. A. H. Henderson. The date of his visit to us was Thursday, Sept. 20, 8 o'clock p. m. I also had Mr. Ed Brooks of Grenada to bring Dr. Strickland out, to say a word. Interest ran high. The church was about filled with people. I was master of ceremonies. Mr. Ed Brooks was first introduced. His talk was short but weighty. He drove home many facts. He stressed better morals and the divorce evils. The speaker of the evening, attorney Henderson, was next introduced. He did full credit to himself and to his profession. He spoke to the delight of his hearers on the subject, "Little Things of Life". After the lawyer's address, Dr. B. H. Strickland was asked to say a word, and what he said to us cannot be forgotten. Race pride was stressed by all the speakers. The chairman of the meeting was at his best in introducing the speakers. At the close of the meeting Mr. Brooks was asked to make an appeal for the Colored Relief Society, and a collection of $4.30 was taken in a few minutes. Attorney Henderson was accompanied by his mother, who was also introduced to the audience.

HUNTING SEASON ETHICS

By R. E. Hall, Vice President Grenada Chapter Izaak Walton League of America.

The Izaak Walton League is constantly striving to improve outdoor conditions, to increase beneficial wild life, and to make all America a more attractive and enjoyable outdoor land.

No period of the year presents a greater need for directing the attention of the American people to suggestions for proper outdoor conduct than the hunting season.

Many outdoor writers devote columns to such matters as where to hunt, how to bag game and the kind of equipment to use. Such basically essential problems as perpetuating and increasing the game supply, improving the relations between farmers and sportsmen, and saving human life are items which are invariably neglected.

The Izaak Walton League believes that clean sportsmanship, an even break for both the hunter and the hunted, constant vigilance to prevent accidents, and a square deal for the landowner, are matters which cannot be stressed too forcefully.

A human life is worth more than all the game in America—see clearly before shooting.

2. Carelessness with firearms is criminal—play safe and avoid accidents.

3. Healthful recreation and the thrill of the chase are a true sportsman's prime objectives always.

4. Observance of the law and eradication of the game hog are responsibilities no sportsman can evade.

5. A few fools with matches kill more game than many shotguns—prevent fires.

6. Only vandals destroy farmers' fences, injure their stock or disregard their wishes.

7. Real sportsmen never try their skill about farmyards, pastures and on trespass signs.

8. Saving animal seed stock, and feeding it during the winter time, will perpetuate the sport.

9. A clear conscience at the end of the trip and an invitation to come again beats a full bag.

We invite all who are interested in our outdoor life to join us in making our country a better place to live in. We can make our state one of the best in the country by pulling together.

LOW PRICES AND SHORT CROPS PARADOXICAL

C. L. Neill, president and general manager of the Mississippi Farm Bureau Cotton Association, says that the present price of cotton and the short cotton crop are entirely out of line and that the paradox is causing discouragement and concern among cotton growers and those who have financed the production of this season's crops.

He has sent out this interesting letter to bankers in Mississippi:

"In this crisis of short crops and low prices to date, necessarily all cotton growers and those who have financed cotton production have been somewhat discouraged.

"For the past four seasons the harvest period prices have been generally the best prices for the year. Statisticians, for the past five years have studied supply and demand features based on September estimates and carry over, together with the many other economic features influencing the price of cotton. These statisticians indicate an average price for the season considerably above the present price level. Gardside also has announced through the cotton exchanges that the low price of cotton prevailing during this past week is 23% below normal, whereas prices of other commodities are about equal to normal.

"The deterioration, disappointing yield and gin turnout throughout the entire cotton belt, are convincing the cotton trade of the fallacy of a big crop the weight of which the market has operated for some weeks.

"In this crisis facing the farmers of Mississippi, the association is in a strong position to finance, with a liberal advance, at low interest rates, an unlimited quantity of cotton. In 1926 with low prices and low grades, thousands of farmers and bankers turned to the association, and just as the association gave its members service in that crisis, it offers now even to a larger degree its broad and flexible service to the cotton growers of Mississippi.

"We, therefore, earnestly urge you to bring to the cotton growers of your section the service offered by the Mississippi Farm Bureau Cotton Association in order that they may take advantage of this unusual opportunity."

W. L. Armstrong, manager of the association's office at Grenada is prepared to render the full selling service and make advances on cotton to the growers of this section and many of the farmers are appreciating this opportunity are delivering their cotton to the association.

BINGHAM—THE BLACK CAT AND HEN EGGS

It has leaked out from post office circles that one of the clerks, Gordon Bingham, is being cat-chised quite a deal because the impression has gotten abroad in some way that a "Black Cat" is supposed to have made his fine hens lay, otherwise certain expenditures would not have been made by Mr. Bingham. He has declined, it is understood, to reveal the full story of the "Black Cat," but anyway Mr. "Cat" is said to have made Mr. Bingham spruce up and his himself—with one of the fair ones—to the fair grounds.
